7 TPOV ENTERPRISES 16, LLC,

8 Plaintiff(s),

9 v.

10 PARIS LAS VEGAS OPERATING
11 COMPANY, LLC,

12 Defendant(s).

Case No. 2:17-CV-346 JCM (VCF)

ORDER

13
14 Presently before the court is defendant Paris Las Vegas Operating Company, LLC's
15 ("Paris") motion to dismiss. (ECF No. 9). Plaintiff TPOV Enterprises 16, LLC ("TPOV 16") filed 16 a response (ECF No. 11), to which Paris replied (ECF No. 12).

17 I. Facts

18 This is a breach of contract case involving a restaurant in the Paris Hotel & Casino in Las 19 Vegas. TPOV 16 alleges Paris breached a contract with TPOV 16 when it terminated the contract
20 and continues to operate "Gordon Ramsay Steak" ("GR Steak"). (ECF No. 1). The contract was 21 assigned to TPOV 16 by its predecessor-in-interest, TPOV Enterprises, LLC ("TPOV 22 Enterprises"). (ECF No. 1 at 7).

23 In November 2011, TPOV Enterprises and Paris entered into a development and operation
24 agreement ("TPOV agreement"). (ECF No. 1 at 2). Under the TPOV agreement, TPOV
25 Enterprises was to provide $1,000,000.00 of capital and services for the design, development, 26 construction, and operation of a restaurant, GR Steak, inside the Paris Hotel. (ECF No. 1). In 27 exchange, TPOV Enterprises and Paris agreed upon a structure by which profits were disbursed
28 and payments were provided. (ECF No. 1 at 5–6). As a condition precedent to entering into the

1 TPOV agreement, Paris entered into an agreement with celebrity chef Gordon Ramsay (“Ramsay”) 2 “relating to the design, development, construction, and operation of [GR Steak]” (“Ramsay 3 agreement”), under which Ramsay would be paid a percentage of the gross restaurant sales. (ECF 4 No. 1 at 2–3).

5 Rowan Seibel was a member of TPOV Enterprises at the time of the TPOV agreement, and 6 later pleaded guilty to one count of obstructing or impeding the due administration of the internal 7 revenue laws under 26 U.S.C. § 7212(a). (ECF No. 1 at 3). After Mr. Seibel pleaded guilty, TPOV 8 Enterprises allegedly assigned its interests under the TPOV agreement to TPOV 16, and “the direct 9 or indirect membership interests in TPOV Enterprises held by Mr. Seibel would be assigned to 10 The Seibel Family 2016 Trust.” (ECF No. 1 at 7). Paris was allegedly notified of this and did not 11 object. (ECF No. 1 at 7–8). Several months later, Paris terminated the TPOV agreement. (ECF 12 No. 1 at 8). The purported termination was allegedly based on Paris’s “rejection of the transfer to 13 TPOV 16 and to the alleged unsuitability of Mr. Seibel.” (ECF No. 1 at 8).

14 On February 3, 2017, TPOV 16 filed the underlying complaint, alleging five claims for 15 relief: (1) breach of contract; (2) breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing; (3) unjust 16 enrichment; (4) declaratory relief; and (5) accounting. (ECF No. 1).

17 In the instant motion, Paris moves to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 18 12(b)(1) and (6), as well as Rule 12(b)(7) for failure to join Gordon Ramsay and Gordon Ramsay 19 Holdings (“GRH”) as necessary parties. (ECF No. 9). The court will address each as it sees fit.

20 II. Legal Standards

21 A. Subject Matter Jurisdiction

22 Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction. Owen Equip. & Erection Co. v. Kroger, 23 437 U.S. 365, 374 (1978). “A federal court is presumed to lack jurisdiction in a particular case 24 unless the contrary affirmatively appears.” Stock West, Inc. v. Confederated Tribes of Colville 25 Reservation, 873 F.2d 1221, 1225 (9th Cir. 1989). Thus, federal subject matter jurisdiction must 26 exist at the time an action is commenced. Mallard Auto. Grp., Ltd. v. United States, 343 F. Supp. 27 2d 949, 952 (D. Nev. 2004) (citing Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. Cal. State Bd. of 28 Equalization, 858 F.2d 1376, 1380 (9th Cir.1988)).

1 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) allows defendants to seek dismissal of a claim or 2 action for a lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1). Dismissal under Rule
3 12(b)(1) is appropriate if the complaint, considered in its entirety, fails to allege facts on its face
4 sufficient to establish subject matter jurisdiction. In re Dynamic Random Access Memory (DRAM)
5 Antitrust Litig., 546 F.3d 981, 984–85 (9th Cir. 2008).

6 Although the defendant is the moving party in a 12(b)(1) motion to dismiss, the plaintiff is 7 the party invoking the court’s jurisdiction. As a result, the plaintiff bears the burden of proving 8 that the case is properly in federal court to survive the motion. McCauley v. Ford Motor Co., 264
9 F.3d 952, 957 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing McNutt v. Gen. Motors Acceptance Corp., 298 U.S. 178, 189
10 (1936)). More specifically, the plaintiff’s pleadings must show “the existence of whatever is 11 essential to federal jurisdiction, and, if [plaintiff] does not do so, the court, on having the defect 12 called to its attention or on discovering the same, must dismiss the case, unless the defect be 13 corrected by amendment.” Smith v. McCullough, 270 U.S. 456, 459 (1926).

14 In moving to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(1), the challenging party may either make a “facial 15 attack,” confining the inquiry to challenges in the complaint, or a “factual attack” challenging
16 subject matter on a factual basis. Savage v. Glendale Union High Sch., 343 F.3d 1036, 1039 n.2
17 (9th Cir. 2003). For a facial attack, the court assumes the truthfulness of the allegations, as in a 18 motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6). Trentacosta v. Frontier Pac. Aircraft Indus., Inc., 813
19 F.2d 1553, 1559 (9th Cir. 1987). By contrast, when presented as a factual challenge, a Rule 20 12(b)(1) motion can be supported by affidavits or other evidence outside of the pleadings. United 21 States v. LSL Biotechs., 379 F.3d 672, 700 n.14 (9th Cir. 2004) (citing St. Clair v. City of Chicago, 22 880 F.2d 199, 201 (9th Cir. 1989)).

23 B. Failure to State a Claim

24 The court may dismiss a plaintiff’s complaint for “failure to state a claim upon which relief
25 can be granted.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). A properly pled complaint must provide “[a] short and 26 plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2).
27 Although rule 8 does not require detailed factual allegations, it does require more than labels and 28 conclusions. Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). Furthermore, a formulaic

1 recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not suffice. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662,
2 677 (2009) (citation omitted). Rule 8 does not unlock the doors of discovery for a plaintiff armed 3 with nothing more than conclusions. Id. at 678–79.

4 To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter to “state
5 a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Id. A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff
6 pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is 7 liable for the misconduct alleged. Id. When a complaint pleads facts that are merely consistent 8 with a defendant’s liability, and shows only a mere possibility of entitlement, the complaint does 9 not meet the requirements to show plausibility of entitlement to relief. Id.

10 In Iqbal, the Supreme Court clarified the two-step approach district courts are to apply
11 when considering a motion to dismiss. Id. First, the court must accept as true all of the allegations 12 contained in a complaint. However, this requirement is inapplicable to legal conclusions. Id.
13 Second, only a complaint that states a plausible claim for relief survives a motion to dismiss. Id.
14 at 678. Where the complaint does not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of 15 misconduct, the complaint has “alleged – but not shown – that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Id.
16 at 679. When the allegations in a complaint have not crossed the line from conceivable to 17 plausible, plaintiff’s claim must be dismissed. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570.

18 The Ninth Circuit addressed post-Iqbal pleading standards in Starr v. Baca, 652 F.3d 1202, 19 1216 (9th Cir. 2011). The Starr court held:

21 First, to be entitled to the presumption of truth, allegations in a complaint or 22 counterclaim may not simply recite the elements of a cause of action, but must 23 contain sufficient allegations of underlying facts to give fair notice and to enable 24 the opposing party to defend itself effectively. Second, the factual allegations that 25 are taken as true must plausibly suggest an entitlement to relief, such that it is not 26 unfair to require the opposing party to be subjected to the expense of discovery and 27 continued litigation.

28 Id.

C. Failure to Join a Party

“Rule 12(b)(7) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permits a party to defend by asserting that a party has not been joined pursuant to Rule 19.” Fed. Deposit Ins. Corp. v. Jones,
No. 2:13-CV-168-JAD-GWF, 2014 WL 4699511, at *11 (D. Nev. Sept. 19, 2014). Rule 19(a) is

1 intended “to protect a party’s right to be heard and to participate in adjudication of a claimed
2 interest.” In re Republic of the Philippines, 309 F.3d 1143, 1152 (9th Cir. 2002) (quoting
3 Shermoen v. United States, 982 F.2d 1312, 1317 (9th Cir. 1992)) (internal quotation marks 4 omitted).

5 Under Rule of 19(a), a party must be joined as a “required” party in two circumstances: (1) 6 when “the court cannot accord complete relief among existing parties” in that party’s absence, or 7 (2) when the absent party “claims an interest relating to the subject of the action” and resolving 8 the action in the person’s absence may, as a practical matter, “impair or impede the person’s ability
9 to protect the interest,” or may “leave an existing party subject to a substantial risk of incurring
10 double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations because of the interest.” Fed. R. Civ. P.
11 19(a)(1).

12 Rule 19(b) gives the court factors to consider to determine whether a party is necessary to 13 an action. Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(b); see also Schnabel v. Lui, 302 F.3d 1023, 1029–30 (9th Cir. 2002).
14 These include whether and the extent to which a judgment rendered in the person’s absence might 15 prejudice that person, the existing parties, and be adequate. Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(b)(1), (3). The 16 court must also consider the extent to which it may lessen or avoid that prejudice including (A)
17 protective provisions in the judgment, (B) shaping the relief, or (C) other measures. Fed. R. Civ.
18 P. 19(b)(2). Finally, the court considers whether, in the event the action is dismissed, the plaintiff
19 has an adequate remedy. Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(b)(4).

20 The threat that a nonparty’s interest being impaired “may be minimized if the absent party 21 is adequately represented in the suit.” Shermoen, 982 F.2d at 1318, (9th Cir. 1992).

22 Consequently, we will consider three factors in determining whether existing 23 parties adequately represent the interests of the absent [party]: whether “the 24 interests of a present party to the suit are such that it will undoubtedly make all” of 25 the absent party’s arguments; whether the party is “capable of and willing to make 26 such arguments”; and whether the absent party would “offer any necessary element 27 to the proceedings” that the present parties would neglect.

28 Cnty. of Fresno v. Andrus, 622 F.2d 436, 439 (9th Cir. 1980) (quoting Shermoen, 982 F.2d at 1318); see also Martinez v. Clark Cnty., 846 F. Supp. 2d 1131 (D. Nev. 2012).

1     III.     Discussion

2             A.   Subject Matter Jurisdiction

3             Diversity jurisdiction exists when there is complete diversity between the parties and the 4     amount-in-controversy exceeds $75,000.00. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332. The parties do not dispute that
5     the amount-in-controversy is satisfied. However, Paris argues a lack of complete diversity
6     between the parties. (ECF No. 9).

7             “Diversity jurisdiction in a suit by or against the entity depends on the citizenship of all the 8     members.” Carden v. Arkoma Assocs., 494 U.S. 185, 195 (1990) (internal quotation marks
9     omitted). TPOV 16 is owned by GR Pub/Steak Holdings, LLC (“GR Pub/Steak”), which is owned
10    by Elite Acquisition, LLC (“Elite”), CNV Acquisition Group IV LLC (“CNV”), CPGR
11    Acquisition LLC (“CPGR”), and the Siebel Family Trust. (See ECF No. 11). Paris, Elite, CPGR, 12    CNV, GR Pub/Steak, and TPOV 16 are all limited liability corporations (“LLCs”), not 13    corporations.

14             “[A] limited liability company ‘is a citizen of every state of which its owners/members are 15    citizens,’ not the state in which it was formed or does business.” NewGen, LLC v. Safe Cig, LLC, 16    840 F.3d 606, 612 (9th Cir. 2016) (quoting Johnson v. Columbia Props. Anchorage, LP, 437 F.3d 17    894, 899 (9th Cir. 2006)).

18            Here, the Siebel Family Trust owns all of the TPOV 16’s member LLCs. (ECF Nos. 11 19    at 9; 11-4; 11-5). The Siebel Family Trust consists of trustees Craig Green and Brian Ziegler and 20    beneficiaries Netty Wachtel Slushny and Bryn Dorfman, all of whom are residents of New York.
21    (ECF No. 11 at 9; 11-4; 11-5 at 2). Thus, the Siebel Family Trust is a citizen of New York. In 22    addition to the Siebel Family Trust, Elite’s members include Ali Ziegler Klein, Carly Ziegler, 23    Craig Green and Brian K. Ziegler, all of whom are residents of the state of New York. (ECF Nos.
24    11 at 9; 11-4; 11-5).

25            As a result, TPOV 16 is a citizen of New York for the purposes of diversity jurisdiction.

26            Subject matter jurisdiction exists if defendant Paris Las Vegas Operating Company, LLC,
27    is not a resident of New York. Paris is owned by Caesars Entertainment Corporation (“CEC”), 28

1 which is a Delaware corporation with a principal place of business in Nevada. (ECF Nos. 11 at 9;
2 12 at 3). Consequently, Paris is a citizen of Delaware and Nevada. (ECF Nos. 11 at 9; 12 at 3).

3 Accordingly, diversity jurisdiction exists because TPOV 16 (New York) and Paris
4 (Delaware/Nevada) are completely diverse. Therefore, the court will deny Paris's motion to 5 dismiss as to this issue.

6 B. Failure to Join Necessary Parties

7 In the present motion, Paris argues TPOV 16 failed to join indispensable and necessary
8 parties Ramsay and GRH. (ECF No. 9 at 7–10).

9 Taken as true, the facts pleaded in the complaint do not require Ramsay and GRH to be 10 joined as necessary parties. TPOV 16 is suing solely on the breach of the TPOV agreement, rather 11 than some “Unified agreement.” (ECF No. 1). The assignment of the TPOV agreement has no
12 bearing on the Ramsay agreement, so the two—on the face of the complaint—are treated as two 13 separate contracts. (ECF No. 1). “A nonparty to a commercial contract ordinarily is not a 14 necessary party to an adjudication of rights under the contract.” Northrop Corp. v. McDonnell 15 Douglas Corp., 705 F.2d 1030, 1044 (9th Cir. 1983) (citations omitted).

16 Consequently, the court can “accord complete relief among” TPOV 16 and Paris as it
17 pertains to injuries, losses, and damages stemming from Paris's alleged breach of contract, breach 18 of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, and unjust enrichment. Fed R. Civ. P. 19(a);
19 (ECF No. 1 at 17–21). Ramsay and GRH do not have an interest in the outcome of the present
20 suit such that their absence would impair or impede their ability to protect their interest in GR
21 Steak. Fed R. Civ. P. 19(a). If a breach of contract between Paris and TPOV 16 were of sufficient
22 interest to Ramsay and GRH, they could intervene as of right under Rule 24, which they have not 23 done. Fed. R. Civ. P. 24.

24 Furthermore, Paris would not incur “double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent 25 obligations” if they were found to be liable to TPOV 16 for monetary damages for the alleged 26 breach of contract. Fed R. Civ. P. 19(a). Accordingly, Ramsay and GRH are not necessary parties, 27 and the motion to dismiss will be denied as to this issue.

1                   C. Failure to State a Claim

2                               1. Breach of Contract (claim 1)

3                   On the face of the complaint, TPOV 16 has sufficiently plead a breach of contract claim.
4                   Under Nevada law, “to succeed on a breach of contract claim, a plaintiff must show four 5                   elements: (1) formation of a valid contract; (2) performance or excuse of performance by the 6                   plaintiff; (3) material breach by the defendant; and (4) damages.” Laguerre v. Nev. Sys. of 7                   Higher Educ., 837 F. Supp. 2d 1176, 1180 (D. Nev. 2011) (citing Bernard v. Rockhill Dev. Co., 8                   734 P.2d 1238, 1240 (Nev. 1987) (“A breach of contract may be said to be a material failure of 9                   performance of a duty arising under or imposed by agreement.”)).

10                  TPOV 16 alleges a valid contract was formed between its predecessor, TPOV Enterprises,
11                  and Paris. (ECF No. 1 at 2). TPOV 16 alleges that its predecessor invested the $1,000,000.00
12                  required by the TPOV agreement, that Paris has materially breached the contract by—amongst 13                  other things—refusing to repay TPOV Enterprises’ initial investment, and that TPOV 16 has 14                  suffered damages as a result. (ECF No. 1 at 2–6, 17). The only point that Paris contests is the 15                  formation or existence of a valid contract between TPOV 16 and Paris. (ECF No. 9 at 11–13).

16                  Paris contends it rejected TPOV’s assignment to TPOV 16, which precludes the existence
17                  of a valid contract. (ECF No. 9 at 11–12). TPOV 16 alleges that an amendment to the contract
18                  allowed for TPOV Enterprises to assign its interest in the TPOV agreement. (ECF No. 1 at 7).
19                  Further, TPOV 16 alleges that (1) Paris was not entitled to object to the assignment of the TPOV
20                  agreement and, (2) Paris did not claim a right to nor did it object. (ECF No. 1 at 8).

21                  The well pleaded facts in the complaint, taken as true, allege that “Paris had no basis to 22                  object to the assignment and the fact that Paris waived any right to contest the assignment of the 23                  TPOV agreement to TPOV 16 (because it made payments to TPOV 16 without objection and 24                  otherwise performed the TPOV agreement with TPOV 16).” (ECF No. 1 at 8–9). Whether Paris
25                  could or did reject the assignment is a factual dispute between the parties, which the court does
26                  not consider on a motion to dismiss. (ECF No. 9 at 12). Although Paris argues its “determination 27                  that Seibel is unsuitable is undisputable as a matter of law,” TPOV 16 still pleaded facts on which 28

1 relief can be granted. (ECF No. 9 at 13). TPOV 16 alleges a valid assignment to TPOV that cured
2 any affiliation with an unsuitable person then relief can be granted. (ECF No. 1 at 8–9).

3 Accordingly, Paris’s motion to dismiss will be denied as to the first claim.

4 2. Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing (claim 2)

5 In Nevada, “[e]very contract imposes upon each party a duty of good faith and fair dealing 6 in its performance and execution.” A.C. Shaw Constr., Inc. v. Washoe Cnty., 784 P.2d 9, 9 (Nev.
7 1989). This implied covenant requires that parties “act in a manner that is faithful to the purpose
8 of the contract and the justified expectations of the other party.” Morris v. Bank of Am. Nev., 886
9 P.2d 454, 457 (Nev. 1994) (internal quotation marks omitted).

10 “When one party performs a contract in a manner that is unfaithful to the purpose of the 11 contract . . . damages may be awarded against the party who does not act in good faith.” Hilton
12 Hotels v. Butch Lewis Prods., 808 P.2d 919, 923 (Nev. 1991). A breach of the duty of good faith
13 and fair dealing can occur “[w]here the terms of a contract are literally complied with but one party 14 to the contract deliberately contravenes the intention and spirit of the contract.” Id. at 922–23.

15 To prevail on a theory of breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, a plaintiff
16 must establish each of the following: (1) plaintiff and defendant were parties to a contract; (2)
17 defendant owed a duty of good faith to plaintiff; (3) defendant breached that duty by performing 18 in a manner that was unfaithful to the purpose of the contract; and (4) plaintiff’s justified
19 expectations were denied. Perry v. Jordan, 900 P.2d 335, 338 (Nev. 1995).

20 TPOV 16 adequately pleaded a claim for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair
21 dealing. (ECF No. 1 at 18–20). The complaint, as discussed above, alleges a contract by 22 assignment between TPOV 16 and Paris. (ECF No. 1 at 7). TPOV 16 alleges that—among other
23 things—rejecting the assignment to TPOV 16, claiming TPOV 16 was unsuitable, claiming TPOV
24 16 was affiliated with someone who was unsuitable, and continuing to operate GR Steak show bad
25 faith and constitutes breaches of Paris’s duty under the contract so as to deny TPOV 16’s
26 expectations. (ECF No. 1 at 18–20). Moreover, TPOV 16 alleges that the purported termination
27 of the contract itself was in bad faith, in violation of the duty Paris owed TPOV 16. (ECF No. 1 28 at 10–14).

1 Like TPOV 16's first claim, Paris's only argument is that TPOV 16 is not a party to any
2 contract with Paris that could support a claim for the breach of the covenant of good faith and fair
3 dealing. (ECF No. 9 at 11–12). For the purpose of the instant motion to dismiss, there is a well 4 pleaded claim for the breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

5 Accordingly, Paris's motion to dismiss will be denied as to this claim.

6 3. Unjust Enrichment (claim 3)

7 Under Nevada law, unjust enrichment is an equitable doctrine that allows recovery of 8 damages "whenever a person has and retains a benefit which in equity and good conscience
9 belongs to another." Unionamerica Mortg. & Equity Trust v. McDonald, 626 P.2d 1272, 1273
10 (Nev. 1981); see also Asphalt Prods. v. All Star Ready Mix, 898 P.2d 699, 701 (Nev. 1995). To 11 state an unjust enrichment claim, a plaintiff must plead and prove three elements:

- 12 (1) a benefit conferred on the defendant by the plaintiff;
- 13 (2) appreciation by the defendant of such benefit; and
- 14 (3) an acceptance and retention by the defendant of such benefit under circumstances such that it would be inequitable for him to retain the benefit without payment of the value thereof.

15 Takiguchi v. MRI Int'l, Inc., 47 F. Supp. 3d 1100, 1119 (D. Nev. 2014) (citing Unionamerica
16 Mortg. & Equity Trust, 626 P.2d at 1273). However, where there is an express contract, an unjust
17 enrichment claim is unavailable. Leasepartners Corp. v. Robert L. Brooks Trust Dated Nov. 12,
18 1975, 942 P.2d 182, 187 (Nev. 1997) (finding that the existence of an express, written agreement
19 bars an unjust enrichment claim because there can be no implied agreement). In the present case,
20 TPOV 16 clearly refers to the TPOV agreement, which constitutes an express, written agreement,
21 which would bar recovery under a theory of unjust enrichment. (ECF No. 1).

22 Alternatively, even if TPOV 16 is not a party to any express, written agreement, the face
23 of the complaint alleges no benefit conferred on Paris by TPOV 16; the unjust enrichment claim
24 alleges only the benefit conferred on Paris by TPOV. (ECF No. 1). If the assignment was proper, 25 then TPOV 16 is a party to an express, written agreement. (ECF No. 1). If the assignment was 26 not proper, then TPOV 16 lacks standing to bring an unjust enrichment claim, having conferred 27 no benefit to Paris. (ECF No. 1).

28 Accordingly, the motion to dismiss will be granted as to claim three.

1 4. Accounting (claim 5)

2 Finally, TPOV 16 alleges that the exact amount owed to it as a result of Paris's breach 3 could be unknown because the accounts between the parties are complicated enough to warrant an 4 accounting. (ECF No. 1 at 22).

5 An action for an accounting may be brought to compel the defendant to account to 6 the plaintiff for money or property (1) where a fiduciary relationship exists between 7 the parties, or (2) where, even though no fiduciary relationship exists, the accounts are so complicated that an ordinary legal action demanding a fixed sum is impracticable.

8 Meixner v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 101 F. Supp. 3d 938, 961 (E.D. Cal. 2015) (citing Brea v.
9 McGlashan, 39 P.2d 877 (Cal. App. 1934)).

10 Here, TPOV 16 does not allege a fiduciary relationship. (ECF No. 1). As a result, the 11 accounts in this case must be "so complicated that an ordinary legal action demanding a fixed sum
12 is impracticable." Id. The complaint alleges that a "waterfall provision" in the contract governed
13 payments to TPOV 16. (ECF No. 1 at 5-7). The provision is enough to support an allegation that 14 the accounts in this case are sufficiently complicated to require an accounting in order to ascertain 15 how much of GR Steak's profits TPOV 16 is entitled to in addition to paying off the remainder of 16 TPOV Enterprises' initial capital investment, if any, should there be a breach of contract. (ECF 17 No. 1 at 5-7).

18 Accordingly, the motion to dismiss will be denied as to the fifth claim.

19 IV. Conclusion

20 Based on the aforementioned, the court will dismiss, without prejudice, claim (3) of TPOV
21 16's complaint. (ECF No. 1).

22 Accordingly,

23 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED, and DECREED that Paris's motion to dismiss
24 (ECF No. 9) be, and the same hereby is, DENIED IN PART and GRANTED IN PART, consistent 25 with the foregoing.
